

Forensics Friday, July 19, 2019

If you guessed answer D, you're correct! The tubulin image has been mirror-flipped and duplicated, and as some keen-eyed observers pointed out, Protein X bands appear to be running in two different directions.

