Dear Mr. Andrew Zhang,

Based on the email from Mr. Jean-Marc Bocabeille on February 20, 2019, we learned that IIETA had bought the journal Ingénierie des Systèmes d'Information (ISI). We are disappointed that several issues of ISI have been published without our supervision. We therefore could not control their quality. Moreover, these articles are not in accordance with the topic target of ISI.

Given this situation, we would like to inform you that there are insufficient grounds for us to continue our collaboration with IIETA as members of the Editorial Board of Ingénierie des Systèmes d'Information (ISI). We therefore offer our resignation as ISI editorial board members, effective immediately. We deeply regret that IIETA does not respect the role of the Editorial Board. Consequently, we ask you not to continue publishing ISI issues with our names as Editorial Board.

Sincerely,
